

Data processing information

Information reviewed 9 September 2026

Winrove is provided by IT Custom Solution LLC, a Delaware limited liability company. ITC is consolidating its software capabilities into one Winrove platform. The unified platform transition is in progress; this notice does not announce a completed migration or general availability.

The agreement for your service

For a Data Processing Addendum covering your service scope, contact hello@winrove.com. The parties need to identify the processing activities, data categories, data subjects, applicable service terms and any required international-transfer particulars for that scope.

This information notice does not amend, replace or terminate an executed agreement. It has no signature block and is not an execution-ready DPA. Its review date is not a contractual effective date.

Historical DPA v2.6

The historical v2.6 form remains available for reference. It describes the earlier procurement service and is not evidence that its terms or listed controls cover every capability of the unified platform. The original file is preserved; do not treat its New York formation wording as the current entity record. ITC is a Delaware LLC.

The historical website text and PDF are not identical. In particular, the website includes a no-training sentence absent from the original PDF. Request a single, agreed service-specific document rather than combining clauses from different copies.

What needs service-specific confirmation

The current review does not verify universal TLS 1.3, complete storage and backup encryption coverage, universal MFA enforcement, customer audit-log availability, processing residency, deletion or backup deadlines, or countersign turnaround. These statements must be checked against the applicable service configuration and documented obligations before being described as current operational assurances.

Processor and subprocessor details, processing locations, retention and deletion arrangements, security measures and any EU or UK transfer annexes must be completed for the actual processing relationship. A downloaded historical template alone does not establish that work is complete.
